A male Borgia. We have the following particulars of the poisoning case at Rincon from parties just arrived. A Mr. Clements is the party accused, and we get the story told by his wife as follows: that he was just ready to start for Los Alamos in the morning, and before going, gave her some pieces of candy, tell ing her not to let the children have any of it. As soon as Clements had gone, she put a small piece of the candy to her mouth not thinking of anything wrong, but noticed that it had a bit er taste; at that instant the youngest of the two children ran up to her, and noticing the candy grabbed it out of her hand and commenced to eat it. She then stepped out of the room for a drink of water; on her return she found the child in convulsions from which it died in something like half an hour. Dr. Cunningham of completed. this city happened to be at Rincon visiting a patient and was called in after the child was dead. He says the body was rigid and the arms and legs were drawn up as though the child had died in a convalsion. On being questioned where Clements got the slection.
